

Hand-over Books

The Fingerprint book is easy to make and fun for the children to share. The book has the children's hand that peaks back at the reader from the rear of the book while his thumb grasps the book from the front.

Staple, or use notebook rings, to hold the book pages together.

Use scissors on the dotted lines to cut out the pieces. After all the pieces are cut out, trace each child's hand. Glue it to the last page of the book, as shown.
